

OUR AUTHORS

Anna Wessman, MA is researcher and PhD student at the Department of Archaeology, Institute of Cultural Research at the University of Helsinki, Finland. Her main interests are archaeology of death, burial, commemoration and memory. Her work focuses on Late Iron Age (550–1150 AD) in Finland and Scandinavia.

anna.wickholm@helsinki.fi

*

Tõnno Jonuks, PhD is researcher at the Department of Folkloristics, Estonian Literary Museum, and archaeologist specializing in archaeology of religion and the methodology of studying past religions.

tonno@folklore.ee

*

Heiki Valk, PhD is affiliated with the University of Tartu, Estonia. His main research areas are Estonian medieval and Early Modern Age cemeteries and funeral traditions, medieval and Modern Age folk religion and cultural processes, South-Estonian archaeological monuments and settlement history. Valk's current research focuses on South-Estonian Late Iron Age society and hillforts.

heiki.valk@ut.ee

*

Sandis Laime, MA is currently research assistant at the Archives of Latvian Folklore, Institute of Literature, Folklore and Art at the University of Latvia, and PhD student at the same university. His research interests are belief legends and their connection to geographical and cultural landscape, medieval rock carvings in Latvia and Latvian diaspora in Siberia.

sandis.laime@lulfmi.lv

*

Vykintas Vaitkevičius, PhD is senior researcher at the Institute of Baltic Sea Region History and Archaeology, Klaipėda University, Lithuania. Areas of current research are archaeology of religion, cultural landscape, and digital archaeology. In 1992 he started the inventory of natural holy places in Lithuania. The first two volumes of the inventory which cover the western and eastern part of Lithuania were published in 1998 and 2006. Also, the major studies of the author are Alkai. Baltų šventviečių studija (2003) and Studies into the Balts' Sacred Places (2004).

vikivait@takas.lt

*

Andrei Prokhorov, PhD is affiliated with the Chair of Ancient and Medieval History of the Faculty of History at Belarusian State University in Minsk.

andrei_prokhorov@mail.ru

*

Andrzej Kuczkowski is affiliated with the Department of Archaeology in the Polish Armour Museum in Kołobrzeg, Poland. His studies concentrate on the early medieval culture of Western Slavs. His main research projects are early medieval cult sites, traditional demonology, and the dead in the world of the living in Pomerania (North Poland).

akuczkowski@wp.pl

*

Kamil Kajkowski is archaeologist and research worker at West-Kashubian Museum in Bytów (Pomerania, North Poland). His research focuses on the medieval archaeology of Slavonic tribes and their neighbours, with a particular emphasis on religion, and the symbolic culture of pre-Christian northern Slavs.

kamilkajkowski@wp.pl

*

Kristiina Johanson, MA in Archaeology is doctoral student at the University of Tartu. Her most recent research interests are the secondary use of objects, Neolithic and Bronze Age in Estonia.

kristiina.johanson@ut.ee